

Corporal Freddie Stowers Single Soldiers Complex

There are eight barracks buildings, all of which are designed in the one-plus-one style, and can house NCO's and Junior Enlisted Soldiers. This means that two Junior Enlisted Soldiers of the same gender each have a private bedroom but share a connecting kitchenette and bathroom.

NCOs are given the entire suite, with one of the bedrooms set up as a living room. All suites are furnished with a single bed, bedside table, lamp, chair, an entertainment center, small refrigerator and microwave. The rooms are pre-wired for cable and telephone, and services can be purchased from the local service providers. The community centers are equipped with a full-size kitchen, a television room with large screen TV, a game room with pool tables and a laundry room with washers and dryers. There are basketball courts in the common areas, as well as outdoor grills in the patio areas. Storage bins are located in the basement of the community centers for small items, and non-temporary storage of excess household goods is available through the Transportation Division.
